The announcement of Paul E. Kelly, president of the Home Builders Association of Philadelphia and Suburbs, that the prices of new homes in this area will increase 5 to 7 percent, has no effect on Levittown or Fairless Hills homes, The Bristol Courier learned today.

Kelly's prediction of a price increase for homes may affect small builders in the Bristol area, however. Kelly said the hike in prices will be necessary to meet increased labor and building material costs.

"The typical row houses," Kelly said, "that now sell for $11,000 will soon cost $11,500 or $11,750, and most builders are getting ready for this higher price. Houses already completed but not sold will not be affected, he said.

Difficulties in financing mortgages were blamed for the drop in home building across the nation, according to a survey, he let down in construction started a few months ago after the biggest construction boom in history opened the year 1953.

'Pike Extension Routs Radcliffe, Cedar St. Homes

Several Houses Already Moved; More To Go

EDGELEY, July 20 — Two rectangular pits on Cedar street, one block back from Radcliffe street, are the first of possibly four which will appear here within a few weeks in preparation for building the Pennsylvania Turnpike Extension through this community.

Six persons, comprising two families, already are at new locations, and three additional families will, within a few weeks, make way for progress in the guise of a highway which will speed vehicles from one state to another across the Delaware River.

First To Move

The family of Winfield Herman (including his wife and a son) was the first in the area to move. The Hermans' house was sent on its way to Second avenue, this community.

On July 15 James Palermo, his wife and daughter, had their dwelling (1½-story frame) moved on rollers to Landreth Manor, just back from North Radcliffe street.

Now the firm which had contract for those two house movings will soon remove the 2½-story dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. John Kysniak, from its foundation at 84 North Radcliffe street, to a plot of ground two or three blocks east on North Radcliffe street.

Two-Year-Old Blood Donors Break Ground for Home

E. C. Beaumont, president of the Pennsylvania Association of First Aid and Rescue Squads, said it was most unusual for the 2-year old Bristol Blood Donors Emergency Squad to break ground for their new building at Green lane and Radcliffe street, yesterday.

The welcome was delivered by Raymond A. Tomlinson, president of the group.

Burgess I. J. Hetherington, Bristol, acted as master of ceremonies. He told the throng that a little rain and possibly some hail would be welcomed to cool everybody off. Later in the program, the ceremonies were cut short due to a rain and hail storm.

J. H. Winterstein, public relations director, Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., said:

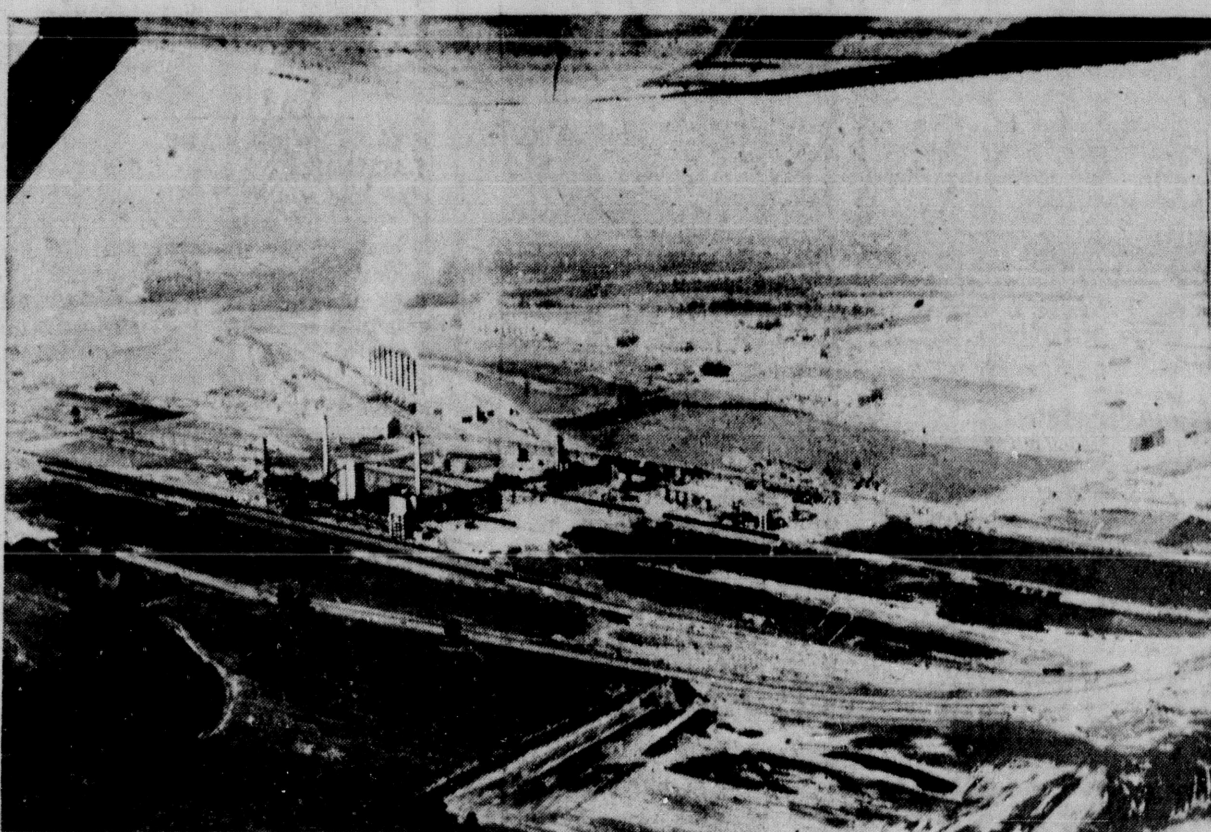

"The company which I represent has been happy to participate in this project by making available this plot of ground. It must be remembered that corporations are made up of people, so it is not stretching the facts to say that corporations, too, have the same instinct to serve that motivates the members of this fine organization."

Alexander Copstein, Levittown, and Dr. Vincent Romano also delivered congratulations to the Blood Donors.

The new building, on which work started today, will have an apparatus floor, a fully-equipped dispensary, and a meeting room and office. The work is being done mainly by the members and volunteer help.

The Bucks county, Torresdale, Trevose Heights, and Narbeth Buhlme Rescue Squads participated in the ceremonies. Refreshments were served after the ceremonies at the No. 2 fire house.

Area Resident Hits Charge Silver Lake Is 'Unfit To Swim In'

Convinced that Silver Lake is unpolluted, and safe to swim in, Ascanio Grimaldi, of 2nd avenue, today said he was "willing to pay any expense" for a chemical test of the water, provided the check is made without identifying origin of the water. The test would prove that the water is pure, he said.

Grimaldi, with his wife Josephine, lives near the lake, and has been an "unofficial caretaker" for the swimming spot.

This season many residents of Bristol and the surrounding area are heeding warning signs posted by Bristol borough and twp. but Philadelphians and Trentonians still bathe there.

Daily attendance this summer is a little more than half that of former years, Grimaldi said.

Grimaldi is one of the builders of the lake, having worked with the W. P. A. on the project in 1939.

County Commission Rejects Falls Bid For Reassessment

A request made recently by the Falls township school officials that an outside firm be employed to reassess the industrial facilities in the township has been turned down by the Bucks county commissioners.

According to T. Sidney Cadwallader, 2d, the township's school board solicitor, the school board was willing to pay for part of the cost of such an assessment, but "the commissioners apparently never even took this into consideration."

Elwood A. Britton, chief Bucks county assessor, said that the commissioners felt they were "unable at this time" to hire an outside firm. The commissioners hope to have the homes and industries assessed on a county-wide basis next year, he added.

Cadwallader stated "that the schools might not be able to be operated this year on the revenue brought in from real estate taxes, and that the school board might have to seek other means of levying taxes if the township industrial plants were not reassessed."

On these trips Levittown and other nearby attractions, as well as the steel plant, are pointed out. Sources from this airport say that they have made almost 750 such flights in the past year.

An average of 1,000 trips have been made by the Old Star Airport, U. S. Highway No. 1, Lincoln Highway, Langhorne, according to John A. Van Sant.

These and other airports are continuously scheduling flights which will help to acquaint the local residents with Lower Bucks County.

St. Vincent Cadets Win Drum Crown; Loss Recovered

The St. Vincent Cadets, of Bayonne, N. J., added a third to their string of titles in Bristol High School stadium Saturday night, winning the Eastern States Drum and Bugle Corps championship.

Already holders of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars national titles, the Bayonne corps won the Eastern crown by topping the list of colorful displays and spirited musical selections. To the strains of "The March of the Wooden Soldiers," they marched in stiff-legged, wooden soldier style.

The Robert W. Bracken Post Cadets, at the last minute withdrew from the competition, because of their sponsorship of the event. Attendance was estimated at 3,500. A quick estimate of ticket receipts by Lawrence McCoy, business manager of the Bracken Corps, indicated they are "just about out of the hole" in overcoming the cash loss caused when rain cancelled the event June 13.

St. Vincent, of Bayonne, won the Eastern title with 89.93 points. Second were the St. Joseph Cadets, of Newark, N. J., with 87.38 points. Other standing were:

Third—Holy Name Cadets, Garfield, N. J., 87.35. Fourth—Blessed Sacrament Cadets, Newark, N. J., 86.5. Fifth—Osmond Post Cadets, Philadelphia, 86.1. Sixth—West Reading Police Cadets, 85.81. Seventh—St. Vincent Cadets, Madison, N. J., 83.7. Eighth—Tri-County Cadets, Newtown Square, 82.8.

Hearing Scheduled On Easing Building In Middletown Twp.

Support for lower zoning restrictions in the Woodbourne section of Middletown township was urged yesterday by Frederick A. Holly, temporary chairman of the Middletown township Association for Better Government.

The township commissioners proposed the plan which would open residential and agricultural Woodbourne to industry. A public hearing on the issue will be held next Wednesday in the Township Building.

Holly criticized the older Middletown township Improvement Association for attempting, he said, to block Levitt & Sons from building on a 15-acre site in the township. He also said the Association had used "every method to thwart progress."

The older group was at the same time, charged with using "distorted facts" in opposing Levitt by Charles Tetlow, a township school director and member of the new association.

The relief from the heat was only temporary. The temperature dropped from 96 degrees at 2 p. m.

on the plot at Radcliffe street and Coates avenue. This new site was to have been the location for Pilgrim Presbyterian Church, but the purchase of a site in the Levittown area for the edifice left the ground free for sale.

"We sold the house to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, which in turn resold it to us," Mrs. Kysniak said. "We now are awaiting settlement on the new plot of ground, and may possibly move within a month."

The owners pay for moving their dwellings, they said. No figures were forth-coming, either on prices paid by the Turnpike Commission, by the owners in rebuying, or for moving of telephone and electric wires.

Held Contract

The contract for the above trio of movings was held by Garrett-Oldis, of Pennington, N. J. This firm is said to have contract for moving the house of David Thomas, from Meadow street and Emille road.

Another property in Edgely in the path of the Turnpike Extension is that in which Joseph Popkin and his mother reside, next to the Kysniak home on North Radcliffe st.

According to Mrs. Popkin the offer of the Turnpike Commission has not yet been accepted. She added, however, that they may take the house to a lot next to the home of J. Leslie Kilscoy, Esq., further up Radcliffe street. The Popkin property is a brick bungalow.

Another family in that immediate section is to have a new dwelling spot, but a new house is being built.

Mr. and Mrs. George Besack and two sons, who reside on the eastern side of the Kysniak property on North Radcliffe st., will vacate the present dwelling when their new house on Bath road is completed. The roof is now being finished.

African Safari Very High-Priced

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — (INS) — If big game hunting is your vacation aim, Africa still is the place to go — but you'll need more time and money than most working Americans can spare. Despite the encroachment of civilization, with modern cities rising in what once was wild animal country, it is still possible for hunters with guns to bring down an elephant, a lion or other big game species.

Big game hunting with guns, however, has become a highly specialized and increasingly costly sport, a luxury only for those who can afford the price. And the sky is the limit in cost.

All kinds of hunting safaris can be arranged at prices depending on how luxuriously the hunter wants to travel. He can do it on a grand scale with expert "white hunters" as guides and protectors, gun bearers, cooks and all the other Hollywood-like trappings, including champagne with meals — at staggering cost.

On the other hand, a safari may be booked into northern Rhodesia, which still abounds in wild life, for about 600 pounds (about $1,800) for two weeks, with elephant, lion, cheetah and bucks among the game to be had.

That's still a sizeable fee for the average person, but other trips of a week or ten days duration are available from about 500 pounds.

HORSE CARE

LARAMIE, Wyo. — (INS) — Folks may think Dobbin and the Old Gray Mare are doomed to go the way of the dinosaur and the sabre-tooth tiger, but demand for copies of a new Wyoming University pamphlet shows a great many people all over the nation still have an interest in horses. Up to 65 requests a day — 2,500 since January — have been received at Laramie for the 32-page booklet "Horses — Their Care and Training."

Milk Good for Chickens

Milk is a good feed for chickens of all ages because of its proteins, vitamins, and minerals, says F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. It has been demonstrated experimentally that milk has another value, he explains. It stimulates feed consumption in general.

Driver Needs 1200 Ft. To Pass Car At 50

How many feet of clear road do you need to go around and pass another car safely?

Edward P. Curran, Safety Director of Keystone Automobile Club, poses that question for motorists following a recent survey which shows that improper passing has become one of the five leading causes of fatal highway accidents.

"Far too many drivers depend upon their gas pedals to get them out of dangerous situations brought about by their failure to allow enough passing time and space," he declared. "Few motorists realize that at 50 miles an hour they must have 1200 feet, nearly a quarter of a mile, to pass a car in front traveling at 40 miles an hour, where there is no oncoming traffic. The minimum safe clearance distance must be doubled, at the same speeds when a vehicle is approaching from the opposite direction."

"Here are two further examples. "If there is no oncoming traffic and you are driving at 20 m.p.h., and your speed is 10 m.p.h. greater than that of the car you are passing, you will need 240 feet clearance; if your speed is 15 m.p.h. greater you will need 160 feet. With oncoming traffic, those distances are doubled to 480 and 320 feet, respectively. If, with no oncoming traffic, your speed is 70 m.p.h., you will need 2240 feet, or nearly half a mile to pass a car traveling at 60 m.p.h.; with oncoming traffic, that distance would be doubled to 4480 feet, or nearly a mile, necessary for safe passing."

on the plot at Radcliffe street and Coates avenue. This new site was to have been the location for Pil- grim Presbyterian Church, but the purchase of a site in the Levittown area for the edifice left the ground free for sale.

"We sold the house to the Pennsylv- ania Turnpike Commission, which in turn resold it to us," Mrs. Kay- niak said. "We now are awaiting settlement on the new plot of ground, and may possibly move within a month."

The owners pay for moving their dwellings, they said. No figures were forthcoming, either on prices paid by the Turnpike Commission, by the owners in rebuying, or for moving of telephone and electric wires.

Held Contract

The contract for the above trio of movings was held by Garrett- Oldis, of Pennington, N. J. This firm is said to have contract for moving the house of David Thomas from Meadow street and Emille road.

Another property in Edgely in the path of the Turnpike Extension is that in which Joseph Popkin and his mother reside, next to the Kys- niak home on North Radcliffe st.

According to Mrs. Popkin the offer of the Turnpike Commission has not yet been accepted. She added, however, that they may take the house to a lot next to the home of J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., further up Radcliffe street. The Popkin property is a brick bungalow.

Another family in that immediate section is to have a new dwelling spot, but a new house is being built. Mr. and Mrs. George Besack and two sons, who reside on the eastern side of the Kysniak property on North Radcliffe st., will vacate the present dwelling when their new house on Bath Road is completed. The roof is now being finished.

African Safari Very High-Priced

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — (INS) — If big game hunting is your vacation aim, Africa still is the place to go — but you'll need more time and money than most working Americans can spare.

Despite the encroachment of civilization, with modern cities ris- ing in what once was wild animal country, it is still possible for hunters with guns to bring down an elephant, a lion or other big game species.

Big game hunting with guns, however, has become a highly spe- cialized and increasingly costly sport, a luxury only for those who can afford the price. And the sky is the limit in cost.

All kinds of hunting safaris can be arranged at prices depending on how luxuriously the hunter wants to travel. He can do it on a grand scale with expert "white hunters" as guides and protectors, gun bearers, cooks and all the other Hollywood-like trappings, in- cluding champagne with meals — at staggering cost.

On the other hand, a safari may be booked into northern Rhodesia, which still abounds in wild life, for about 600 pounds (about $1,800) for two weeks, with elephant, lion, cheetah and bucks among the game to be had.

That's still a sizeable fee for the average person, but other trips of a week or ten days duration are available from about 500 pounds.

HORSE CARE

LARAMIE, Wyo. — (INS) — Folks may think Dobbin and the Old Gray Mare are doomed to go the way of the dinosaur and the sabre-tooth tiger, but demand for copies of a new Wyoming Univer- sity pamphlet shows a great many people all over the nation still have an interest in horses. Up to 65 requests a day — 2,500 since January — have been received at Laramie for the 32-page booklet "Horses — Their Care and Train- ing."

Milk Good for Chickens

Milk is a good feed for chickens of all ages because of its proteins, vitamins, and minerals, says F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. It has been dem- onstrated experimentally that milk has another value, he explains. It stimulates feed consumption in general.

Driver Needs 1200 Ft. To Pass Car At 50

How many feet of clear road do you need to go around and pass an- other car safely?

Edward P. Curran, Safety Direc- tor of Keystone Automobile Club, poses that question for motorists following a recent survey which shows that improper passing has become one of the five leading causes of fatal highway accidents.

"Far too many drivers depend upon their gas pedals to get them out of dangerous situations brought about by their failure to allow enough passing time and space," he declared. "Few motorists realize that at 50 miles an hour they must have 1200 feet, nearly a quarter of a mile, to pass a car in front travel- ing at 40 miles an hour, where there is no oncoming traffic. The minimum safe clearance distance must be doubled, at the same speeds when a vehicle is approach- ing from the opposite direction."

"Here are two further examples. "If there is no oncoming traffic and you are driving at 20 m.p.h., and your speed is 10 m.p.h. greater than that of the car you are pass- ing, you will need 240 feet clear- ance; if your speed is 15 m.p.h. greater you will need 160 feet. With oncoming traffic, those dis- tances are doubled to 480 and 320 feet, respectively. If, with no on- coming traffic, your speed is 70 m.p.h., you will need 2240 feet, or nearly half a mile to pass a car traveling at 60 m.p.h.; with oncom- ing traffic, that distance would be doubled to 4480 feet, or nearly a mile, necessary for safe passing."

Pictured above is the new Fairless View Elementary School, Fairless Hills, scheduled for completion on February 1, 1954. 62 Million Acres Set Aside For 1954 Wheat Crop

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today announced a national acreage allotment of 62 million acres for the 1954 wheat crop. He also set August 14 as the date for a referendum among wheat growers on the question of whether to use quotas in marketing the 1954 wheat crop.

Wheat quotas, which operate through acreage allotments, were proclaimed by the Secretary on July 1, as directed by law. They will not become effective, however, unless at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve their use. Growers with more than 15 acres planted to wheat, and with normal production of 200 bushels or more, are subject to the quotas and are therefore eligible to vote in the referendum.

A new minimum national allotment figure, and authorization to hold the referendum as late as mid-August, are provided in amendments to marketing quota legislation which were signed by President Eisenhower on July 14.

Under these new provisions, the national allotment for 1954 may not be less than 62 million acres. Since the indicated 1953-54 wheat supply stands at an all-time high, the minimum acreage—62 million—is called for.

Under previous legislation, the minimum national allotment was 55 million acres, which would have required a reduction of more than 23 million acres, whereas the new legislation reduces the adjustment to 16.6 million acres below the 78.6 million acres planted to the 1953 wheat crop.

On July 1, when the Secretary of Agriculture proclaimed wheat quotas, the total supply of wheat for 1953-54 was indicated at a record 1,717 million bushels, which exceeded the normal supply of 1,156 million bushels by 48 percent. Wheat quotas must be proclaimed not later than July 1 when the total supply exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 percent. Since that time, a later crop report boosts the expected 1953 wheat crop to 1,175 million bushels, and this crop, together with a carry-over of 589 million bushels and estimated imports of 5 million bushels, raises the total indicated supply to 1,760 million bushels.

If growers approve marketing quotas in the August 14 referendum, price supports on the 1954 wheat crop will be available to cooperators at 90 percent of parity, as provided by law. If growers do not approve quotas, price supports will drop to 50 percent of parity.

Under a marketing quota program, growers who cooperate with their wheat acreage allotments may market all of the wheat grown on their allotted acres. Non-cooperators will be subject to a penalty of 45 percent of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1954 on their farm marketing excess.

The penalty can be avoided or postponed by withholding excess wheat from the market. This may be done by storing it or by delivering it to the Secretary of Agriculture for relief use or diversion, under regulations established by the Secretary.

The national wheat acreage allotment will be apportioned among the States, and the State allotments among the counties, on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of wheat during the preceding 10 years, with adjustment for abnormal weather and for trends in acreage.

County allotments will be apportioned among individual farms according to past acreage of wheat, tillable acres, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and the slope and lay of the land.

Every wheat grower who is affected by quotas will be notified of his acreage allotment before the referendum is held. Further information on the local operation of wheat quotas is available from State and County Production and Marketing Administration Committees.

telephones knocked out of order in the storm. Most of the trouble came shortly after midnight, when a second thunder storm broke, according to Bertram D. Rearick, staff assistant at the Bristol office.

Lines, Cables Wet
The damage resulted from lines and cables getting wet after lightning bared the insulation, causing short circuits, he said.

George Walton, Old Friends Farm, Trevoze road, was struck by lightning yesterday and was taken to Nazareth Hospital by the Trevoze Heights Rescue Squad.

The Otto house was one of two in the same section of Finley avenue, Cornwells Heights, hit by the bolt. It is believed that the lightning travelled by wires from one house to the other, the dwellings being on opposite sides of the street.

The second house struck was that of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Menzen, Sr. In the Menzen residence the bolt came into the house through a base receptacle in the bedroom, causing a large black smudge.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzen were alone in the house at the time. Mrs. Menzen, an invalid, is confined to bed. Her husband, a partial invalid, managed to reach the front porch and turn on the porch light. No lights were available on the second floor as some fuses had been burned. Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spect, seeing Menzen apparently in need of aid, hurried to his home to replace the fuses. The telephone at the Menzen place also was rendered useless.

Fuses at the Otto home were also burned out.

The storm put three of Bristol's four fire alarm circuits out of order. Box 45, near the Grundy Mill was being repaired this morning.

Winds Damaged Roof
The firemen were called to the home of William Shire, 823 Pine street, when strong winds damaged the roof. Large hailstones fell in the borough. Several tree branches were knocked loose by the violent weather.

The heavy rains brought no immediate increases to Bristol's water sources, but aided the supply by ending top-watering of lawns, according to a borough official. The week-end idleness of industrial plants also helped spare the water.

"We have been holding our own very nicely, but there is still a shortage of water," he said, stating that the bans on car washing and lawn sprinkling still are in effect.

He described the present water situation as "no difference, not too good. We have been holding our own but there is still a shortage of water," he said.

Electric service was cut off between 3:12 and 3:39 p. m. yesterday in Bristol, Fairless Hills, Yardley and Levittown, a spokesman for the Philadelphia Electric Co. said.

Longest effected by the stoppage was Magnolia Hill section, Levittown, where service was off for one hour. The failure was probably caused by lightning hitting power lines, or tree branches falling on the wires, the utility spokesman said.

A late model hard-top automobile was demolished in the storm when a 100-foot buttonwood tree toppled upon it. Martin Obidzewski, owner of the car, reported. This morning he was waiting for insurance adjusters to remove the tree.

Obidzewski, 16, lives on Lamberis avenue, Belardely, near Rogers road. He had gone out and left the car parked next to his house when the tree fell. The roof was caved in with windows and sides smashed, he said.

A bolt of lightning struck and damaged the kitchen of a house on Rogers road and Spruce street, Winder Village, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ostapowicz, according to Mrs. Ostapowicz.

Fuses at the Otto home were also burned out.

The storm put three of Bristol's four fire alarm circuits out of order. Box 45, near the Grundy Mill was being repaired this morning.

Two accidents occurred over the week-end, one near Levittown, and the other one mile east of Pennel. Alfred DeVenere, 501 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, was involved in an accident with Walter Novatowski, 132 Woodland street, Trenton, on Route No. 1 and 413. Pvt. DeVenere of the State Police investigating the accident in which he said he was $250 damage.

The second week-end accident involved Donald J. McCormick, 21 Locust lane, Levittown; Jane E. Vonhofen, 51 Post lane, Levittown; and an unidentified car.

The third car was traveling on Route 13 in front of the other two, when the driver made a turn onto Haines road. The next car in line slowed down, and the third automobile ran into it, police said.

Mrs. Dorothy Just, 30, Michigan, was riding with Miss Vonhofen when the accident occurred, and she was treated for injuries at the Bristol General Hospital.

Linoleum Care

Well Worth While

Linoleum work surfaces or sink tops will keep in good shape longer with a little preliminary care.

Paste wax should be applied to new linoleum tops and rubbed in thoroughly with a heavy cloth or piece of old carpet. Liquid wax that is partially soluble in water is not satisfactory as it does not provide the heavy duty protection you need.

Everyday cleaning needs only a mild soap and water and a thorough rinsing. For a complete cleaning, use a special cleaner designed for the purpose and a scrubbing brush.

Stubborn spots respond to fine steel wool dipped in the cleaner. Rinse with clear water and apply paste wax when thoroughly dry.

The soap you use should be a mild one—Keep a special soap dish for the linoleum cleansing if you use stronger soaps and cleaning compounds for your other kitchen purposes.

Wheat quotas, which operate through acreage allotments, were proclaimed by the Secretary on July 1, as directed by law. They will not become effective, however, unless at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve their use. Growers with more than 15 acres planted to wheat, and with normal production of 200 bushels or more, are subject to the quotas and are therefore eligible to vote in the referendum.

A new minimum national allotment figure, and authorization to hold the referendum as late as mid-August, are provided in amendments to marketing quota legislation which were signed by President Eisenhower on July 14.

Under these new provisions, the national allotment for 1954 may not be less than 62 million acres. Since the indicated 1953-54 wheat supply stands at an all-time high, the minimum acreage—62 million—is called for.

Under previous legislation, the minimum national allotment was 55 million acres, which would have required a reduction of more than 23 million acres, whereas the new legislation reduces the adjustment to 16.6 million acres below the 78.6 million acres planted to the 1953 wheat crop.

On July 1, when the Secretary of Agriculture proclaimed wheat quotas, the total supply of wheat for 1953-54 was indicated at a record 1,717 million bushels, which exceeded the normal supply of 1,156 million bushels by 48 percent. Wheat quotas must be proclaimed not later than July 1 when the total supply exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 percent. Since that time, a later crop report boosts the expected 1953 wheat crop to 1,175 million bushels, and this crop, together with a carry-over of 580 million bushels and estimated imports of 5 million bushels, raises the total indicated supply to 1,760 million bushels.

If growers approve marketing quotas in the August 14 referendum, price supports on the 1954 wheat crop will be available to cooperators at 90 percent of parity, as provided by law. If growers do not approve quotas, price supports will drop to 50 percent of parity.

Under a marketing quota program, growers who cooperate with their wheat acreage allotments may market all of the wheat grown on their allotted acres. Non-cooperators will be subject to a penalty of 45 percent of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1954 on their farm marketing excess.

The penalty can be avoided or postponed by withholding excess wheat from the market. This may be done by storing it or by delivering it to the Secretary of Agriculture for relief use or diversion, under regulations established by the Secretary.

The national wheat acreage allotment will be apportioned among the States, and the State allotments among the counties, on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of wheat during the preceding 10 years, with adjustment for abnormal weather and for trends in acreage.

County allotments will be apportioned among individual farms according to past acreage of wheat, tillable acres, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and the slope and lay of the land.

Every wheat grower who is affected by quotas will be notified of his acreage allotment before the referendum is held. Further information on the local operation of wheat quotas is available from State and County Production and Marketing Administration Committees.

telephones knocked out of order in the storm. Most of the trouble came shortly after midnight, when a second thunder storm broke, according to Bertram D. Reaick, staff assistant at the Bristol office.

Lines, Cables Wet
The damage resulted from lines and cables getting wet after lightning bared the insulation, causing short circuits, he said.

George Walton, Old Friends Farm, Trevoose road, was struck by lightning yesterday and was taken to Nazareth Hospital by the Trevoose Heights Rescue Squad.

The Otto house was one of two in the same section of Finley avenue, Cornwells Heights, hit by the bolt. It is believed that the lightning travelled by wires from one house to the other, the dwellings being on opposite sides of the street.

The second house struck was that of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Menzen, Sr. in the Menzen residence the bolt came into the house through a base receptacle in the bedroom, causing a large black smudge.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzen were alone in the house at the time. Mrs. Menzen, an invalid, is confined to bed. Her husband, a partial invalid, managed to reach the front porch and turn on the porch light. No lights were available on the second floor as some fuses had been burned. Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spect, seeing Menzen apparently in need of aid, hurried to his home to replace the fuses. The telephone at the Menzen place also was rendered useless.

Fuses at the Otto home were also burned out.

The storm put three of Bristol's four fire alarm circuits out of order. Box 45, near the Grundy Mill was being repaired this morning.

Winds Damaged Roof
The firemen were called to the home of William Shire, 823 Pine street, when strong winds damaged the roof. Large hailstones fell in the borough. Several tree branches were knocked loose by the violent weather.

The heavy rains brought no immediate increases to Bristol's water sources, but aided the supply by ending top-watering of lawns, according to a borough official. The week-end idleness of industrial plants also helped spare the water.

"We have been holding our own very nicely, but there is still a shortage of water," he said, stating that the bans on car washing and lawn sprinkling still are in effect.

He described the present water situation as, "no difference, not too good. We have been holding our own but there is still a shortage of water," he said.

Electric service was cut off between 3:12 and 3:39 p. m. yesterday in Bristol, Fairless Hills, Yardley and Levittown, a spokesman for the Philadelphia Electric Co. said.

Longest effected by the stoppage was Magnolia Hill section, Levittown, where service was off for one hour. The failure was probably caused by lightning hitting power lines, or tree branches falling on the wires, the utility spokesman said.

A late model hard-top automobile was demolished in the storm when a 100-foot buttonwood tree toppled upon it. Martin Obidzewski, owner of the car reported. This morning he was waiting for insurance adjusters to remove the tree.

Obidzewski, 16, lives on Llanberis avenue, Belardely, near Rogers road. He had gone out and left the car parked next to his house when the tree fell. The roof was caved in with windows and sides smashed, he said.

A bolt of lightning struck and damaged the kitchen of a house on Rogers road and Spruce street, Winder Village, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ostapowicz, according to Mrs. Ostapowicz.

Two accidents occurred over the week-end, one near Levittown, and the other one mile east of Pennel.

Alfred DeVenere, 501 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, was involved in an accident with Walter Novatowski, 132 Woodland street, Trevoose, on Route No. 1 and 413. Pvt. DeVenere of the State Police investigating the accident in which he said the damage was $250.

The second week-end accident involved Donald J. McCormick, 21 Locust lane, Levittown; Jane E. Vonhofen, 51 Post lane, Levittown; and an unidentified car.

The third car was traveling on Route 13 in front of the other two, when the driver made a turn onto Haines road. The next car in line slowed down, and the third automobile ran into it, police said.

Mrs. Dorothy Just, 30, Michigan, was riding with Miss Vonhofen when the accident occurred, and she was treated for injuries at the Bristol General Hospital.

Linoleum Care Well Worth While

Linoleum work surfaces or sink tops will keep in good shape longer with a little preliminary care.

Paste wax should be applied to new linoleum tops and rubbed in thoroughly with a heavy cloth or piece of old carpet. Liquid wax that is partially soluble in water is not satisfactory as it does not provide the heavy duty protection you need.

Everyday cleaning needs only a mild soap and water and a thorough rinsing. For a complete cleaning, use a special cleaner designed for the purpose and a scrubbing brush.

Stubborn spots respond to fine steel wool dipped in the cleaner. Rinse with clear water and apply paste wax when thoroughly dry.

The soap you use should be a mild one—keep a special soap dish for the linoleum cleaning if you use stronger soaps and cleaning compounds for your other kitchen purposes.

TOO ALARMIST?
Because the nation has not yet reached the point that its people are thoroughly bent on conserving natural resources it is a good thing to have the tocsin sounded occasionally.

This is done in a resounding way by the Population Reference Bureau, a private study organization, which warns that as the nation's population increases 300 an hour, "we are mining our fields, forests and water resources at a suicidal rate." It predicts that the world population will double by the year 2000 and doubts that a "rock-sea-water-sunlight economy" can be developed in time to care for it.

The bureau predicts an American population of 190,000,000 by 1975 and "well over 200,000,000 by the year 2000." That would not be doubling the population, which the Bureau of the Census estimates at 160,000,000, but only increasing it "well over" 25 per cent. The obvious inference is that population elsewhere in the world will increase at three times the rate of that in the United States.

There is no discounting the fact that the nation's timber is being cut too rapidly and that provisions for future water supply are inadequate. But in the age of synthetic materials and the development of atomic power as a war resource, is it reasonably to be supposed that scientific research will not develop new and more adequate foods? Or that it will not find a way to tap at no prohibitive cost new mineral resources under the sea and the earth's crust.

This prophesied year 2000 is one to which boys and girls, young men and young women by the millions look forward to. Counting out the possibility of a devastating war, it may be assumed, in the light of past progress, that they will survive, with a standard of living different from but relatively as high as that of today.

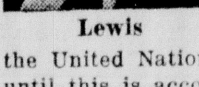

Your Birthday
by STELLA II

MONDAY, JULY 20—Born today, you have an exceptionally high sense of honor. You know how to cooperate with others. Your major handicap, perhaps, is a timidity in the presence of members of the opposite sex. You feel unsure of yourself among them and in this regard need to cultivate a little more self-confidence. You have a warm and ardent nature. An early marriage to someone who thoroughly understands your temperament will make you happiest.
You have a good mind but are not always inclined to use it as fully as you should. You are fond of books and probably will want a large library. You are inclined to follow others, although your true instincts are in reality toward leadership. Here, again, your timidity to take things in your own hands can become a handicap. You fail to grasp opportunities quickly enough and sometimes let one pass unused. Be more alert.
You are artistic and have the temperament that usually goes with a creative imagination. You are fond of having artistic surroundings and you women love beautiful clothes. You women, especially, must guard against a tendency to underestimate your mental powers. You often waste your time on unimportant things. You have the will to get what you want; just be sure to seek the significant things in life, rather than the trifles.
To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"
by Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 20—On the eve of what appears to be the signing of a truce between North Korean Communists and the United Nations it is worth while to recall that:

1. Red China will not be a signator of the truce nor has it been a participant in truce discussions, but it has outstripped Genghis Khan and Joseph Stalin in the slaughter of human lives—14,000,000 in Asia in five years.
2. We have suffered nearly 140,000 casualties in Korea, South Korea has suffered 200,000 and the Republic of Korea has been gutted by bombs and shells — yet the first bomb has not been dropped on Communist China.
3. North Korea has not been liberated, despite the United Nations pledge to fight until this is accomplished. What, then, of our future policy in Asia? The Department of State and our military leaders wrap up the future policy plans in a cloak of secrecy. Officials insist that first things come first, such as a settlement in Korea. Only then will the new diplomatic offensive begin.

Lewis

The form of a post-truce diplomatic offensive in Asia is of great concern to most Americans. We realize as a people that our policy to date in that area has been a failure. There are ample guideposts for the State Department attesting to this fact, if officials will take the time to study them.
One, for instance, was made public recently by the Commonwealth Club of California. It resulted from a two year study of U. S. policy for Asia. Some of the leading officials in business, education and government, associated with the Club, expressed their views on the question.
Members were polled on 31 questions relating to our efforts to keep Asia on our side of the fence. Panel discussions were held over a two year period, in which speakers on both sides of all 31 questions were heard. In the polling the weight of opinion stressed the total failure of what we are doing in Asia. The major points covered are as follows:
1. Has the U. S. policy with respect to Asia since World War II, been in general right or wrong? Right 215, wrong 1,218.

2. Do you believe that the loss of China resulted largely from erroneous actions by the U. S.? Yes, 1,119, No, 325.

3. If the United States should adopt a policy of seizing the initiative, which of the following long-range actions would you favor:
(a) Establish a department of cold war strategy: Yes, 733, No, 297.

(b) Seek out weak points of the Soviet armor and marshal our resources against these points: Yes, 1,073, No, 97.

(c) Organize anti-Red 5th columns in Red-dominated countries: Yes, 869, No, 272.

(d) Develop for non-Communist countries of the Far Pacific and Asia, a U. S. program of assistance in such matters as education, welfare and public works: Yes, 1,082, No, 135.

4. Do you endorse the October 7, 1952, U. S.-U. N. resolution calling for liberation of North Korea? Yes, 1,128, No, 123.

5. Should we invite all non-Communist countries of the Pacific area to join a military pact? Yes, 1,097, No, 192.

6. Should Free China representatives now be invited to sign the Japanese treaty? Yes, 989, No, 236.

7. Should the U. S. now recognize Red China? Yes, 142, No, 1,211.

Additional questions were concerned with the military situation, such as a blockade of the China coast, economic sanctions on Red China and the bombardment of Chinese airfields, railways and bridges. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of taking such actions. Lopsided approval also was expressed on the use of Chinese troops on Formosa in the Korean conflict.

The Commonwealth Club findings are a fair sample of top-flight thinking in the U. S. on major diplomatic and military problems. In the light of the conclusions reached, it seems incredible that the former administration was capable of performing in a manner patently opposed by the majority of Americans. We can only hope that the State Department now is aware of this. At any rate the Commonwealth Club findings should be required reading for all officials concerned with our activity in Asia.

Radar Screen Traps Turnpike Speed Demons

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(INS)—If you drive at more than 60 miles an hour on the New Jersey Turnpike, the radar screen will catch you.

The magic eye of radar, scanning the traffic from some unobtrusive position along this modern, super-express highway, accurately records the speed of each approaching vehicle on a constantly changing graph.

When the marker goes above the legal 60 miles an hour, a state trooper operating the radar notes the license number of the car or truck and radios the information to troopers ahead who make the arrest.

Just to make the effectiveness of the radar even more precise, the location of these electronic speed cops varies with the traffic and is never the same.

If by chance, a speeding driver should suddenly recognize the radar unit ahead, it would already be too late for him to slow down. Such is the precision of this newest adaptation of the radar principle to catching speeders.

This, plus a large detachment of state police, is given credit for a substantial decrease in the number of accidents during the first quarter of 1953 as compared to the already low accident record in the same three-month period last year.

$10 Fee For Canoeing

Editor, Courier:

Your picture today, "Bucks County's 'Land of Lakes,'" rubbed my fur the wrong way, appearing after an experience I had this afternoon.

A friend and myself planned to paddle our canoe in one of the Warner lakes shown in the picture. We were dismayed to learn that we would have to pay $10 for an afternoon's canoeing. Furthermore, I understand the police chase swimmers out of the lakes.

Lower Bucks County has a real treasure in these lakes. Could they be opened for public recreation this summer, without a ten dollar fee?

Neurotics Organize New 'Psycho' Society

By Inez Robb
(International News Columnist)

NEW YORK, July 20—(INS)—The Athens of America has just made another monumental contribution to the advancement of national welfare. The first chapter of Neurotics Anonymous has just been formed in Boston, "the home of the bean and the cod, where the schizos speak only to the psychos and the psychos are frightfully odd."

It is almost too much for the human mind to comprehend in one sitting what this can mean to the United States: just try to visualize what it would portend for peace and progress if all the neurotics could really be persuaded to get together and annoy each other instead of innocent bystanders, like you and me!

And, by the way, what do you mean "me?"

Presumably, Neurotics Anonymous will work on the same principle as Alcoholics Anonymous. In the latter organization, when a reformed character feels the overpowering urge for a tipple, he simply picks up the phone, calls up another retired lost week-end and says "Come quick, I'm on the brink of a drink."

The party of the second part then responds with the speed of a hot-rodder on a Los Angeles highway, and together the two fight it out with demon rum.

So presumably when a neurotic feels he is about to flip his lid, he calls N. A. headquarters and screams "Come arunning. My id is on the skid."

This, of course, will bring proper reinforcements to help reintegrate the old personality and bind up its split with a little scotch tape, or anyway with a little scotch.

The only amazing thing about Neurotics Anonymous is that it has been so long in coming to public fruition. It is estimated that everyone in the United States is neurotic save thee and me, and sometimes—if it's the truth you want—there's as nutty as a pecan pie.

A good working rule of thumb, when one is trying to separate the sheep from the manic depressive goats, is to remember that a neurotic is the man or woman who has just left the room.

An individual today who doesn't boast a psychosis just doesn't boast. Certainly he is a dead-head socially and conversationally. What, pray, does a man have to talk about if he isn't being psychoanalyzed? Conversation among the psychos may be jittery but it's far from dead.

If the duodenal ulcer is the wound stripe of civilization, the psychiatrist's couch is its high sign and symbol. Not since the introduction of bingo and the pyramid clubs has another organization promised to sweep the nation like Neurotics Anonymous, although—to tell the truth—I have never yet known one who was willing to be anonymous.

If there is one thing the true neurotic loves better than another, it is to air his libido in public. And the word "anonymous" may take on surprising meanings when the new organization gets going, just like "democracy" and "peace-loving" in the mouths of the Commies.

There can be all sorts of cozy subdivisions within Neurotics Anonymous, once it gets under way. One vast subdivision alone could be devoted to lads who think they're Napoleon, or Aly Khan or Casanova (or is that redundant?).

And there should be another subdivision for the persons who, when you ask them how they are, insist on telling you. All in all, there are vast possibilities for good in this organization. Speed the day when the neurotics sit down and sublimate together!

"ANTIQUED" METAL

You can get an "antique" effect on copper, brass or German silver easily. Mix a small amount of liver of sulphur with water. Apply the solution, either hot or cold, with a brush or a swab made by twisting a bit of cotton around a stick. First be sure the metal is clean and test the solution in a small area. Add more water or liver of sulphur as needed to get the effect you want. After the article dries you can rub highlights on the surface with 000 steel wool. Wax the article afterwards.

Auto Boys' Buyer At Houseware Show

(Special to the Courier)

ATLANTIC CITY, July 20—Mrs. Freda Plavin, of Auto Boys, Bristol, is among 4,000 buyers from every state in the Union who are today registered at the National Housewares and Home Appliance Show in Atlantic City, N. J.

More than 500 exhibitors are displaying an estimated 15,000 different household items ranging from five cents to five thousand dollars.

Show officers reported that buying activity was high reflecting a healthy inventory situation in the housewares and small appliance industry. Buyers report that items on display indicate that manufacturers are no longer plagued by shortages of materials.

Use Good Ram

A good purebred ram will do more than anything else to improve the type and conformation of the lamb crop, reminds Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist. Use of a grade ram or even a mediocre registered ram usually means that the flock will gradually go downhill instead of improving.

TOO ALARMIST?

Because the nation has not yet reached the point that its people are thoroughly bent on conserving natural resources it is a good thing to have the tocsin sounded occasionally.

This is done in a resounding way by the Population Reference Bureau, a private study organization, which warns that as the nation's population increases 300 an hour, "we are mining our fields, forests and water resources at a suicidal rate." It predicts that the world population will double by the year 2000 and doubts that a "rock-sea-water-sunlight economy" can be developed in time to care for it.

The bureau predicts an American population of 190,000,000 by 1975 and "well over 200,000,000 by the year 2000." That would not be doubling the population, which the Bureau of the Census estimates at 160,000,000, but only increasing it "well over" 25 per cent. The obvious inference is that population elsewhere in the world will increase at three times the rate of that in the United States.

There is no discounting the fact that the nation's timber is being cut too rapidly and that provisions for future water supply are inadequate. But in the age of synthetic materials and the development of atomic power as a war resource, is it reasonably to be supposed that scientific research will not develop new and more adequate foods? Or that it will not find a way to tap at no prohibitive cost new mineral resources under the sea and the earth's crust.

This prophesied year 2000 is one to which boys and girls, young men and young women by the millions look forward to. Counting out the possibility of a devastating war, it may be assumed, in the light of past progress, that they will survive, with a standard of living different from but relatively as high as that of today.

Your Birthday by STELLA

MONDAY, JULY 20—Born today, you have an exceptionally high sense of honor. You know how to cooperate with others. Your major handicap, perhaps, is a timidity in the presence of members of the opposite sex. You feel unsure of yourself among them and in this regard need to cultivate a little more self-confidence. You have a warm and ardent nature. An early marriage to someone who thoroughly understands your temperament will make you happiest.

You have a good mind but are not always inclined to use it as fully as you should. You are fond of books and probably will want a large library. You are inclined to follow others, although your true instincts are in reality toward leadership. Here, again, your timidity to take things in your own hands can become a handicap. You fail to grasp opportunities quickly enough and sometimes let one pass unused. Be more alert.

You are artistic and have the temperament that usually goes with a creative imagination. You are fond of having artistic surroundings and you women love beautiful clothes. You women, especially, must guard against a tendency to underestimate your mental powers. You often waste your time on unimportant things. You have the will to get what you want; just be sure to seek the significant things in life, rather than the trifles.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide Tuesday, July 21.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Your own initiative is far better, just now, than depending upon promises that may be rather indefinite.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 20—On the eve of what appears to be the signing of a truce between North Korean Communists and the United Nations it is worth while to recall that:

1. Red China will not be a signatory of the truce nor has it been a participant in truce discussions, but it has outstripped Genghis Khan and Joseph Stalin in the slaughter of human lives—14,000,000 in Asia in five years.

2. We have suffered nearly 140,000 casualties in Korea, South Korea has suffered 200,000 and the Republic of Korea has been gutted by bombs and shells — yet the first bomb has not been dropped on Communist China.

Lewis

3. North Korea has not been liberated, despite the United Nations pledge to fight until this is accomplished.

What, then, of our future policy in Asia? The Department of State and our military leaders wrap up the future policy plans in a cloak of secrecy. Officials insist that first things come first, such as a settlement in Korea. Only then will the new diplomatic offensive begin.

The form of a post-truce diplomatic offensive in Asia is of great concern to most Americans. We realize as a people that our policy to date in that area has been a failure. There are ample guideposts for the State Department attesting to this fact. If officials will take the time to study them.

One, for instance, was made public recently by the Commonwealth Club of California. It resulted from a two year study of U. S. policy for Asia. Some of the leading officials in business, education and government, associated with the Club, expressed their views on the question.

Members were polled on 31 questions relating to our efforts to keep Asia on our side of the fence. Panel discussions were held over a two year period, in which speakers on both sides of all 31 questions were heard. In the polling the weight of opinion stressed the total failure of what we are doing in Asia. The major points covered are as follows:

1. Has the U. S. policy with respect to Asia since World War II, been in general right or wrong? Right 215, wrong 1,218.

2. Do you believe that the loss of China resulted largely from erroneous actions by the U. S.? Yes, 1,119, No, 325.

3. If the United States should adopt a policy of seizing the initiative, which of the following long-range actions would you favor:

(a) Establish a department of cold war strategy: Yes, 793, No, 297.

(b) Seek out weak points of the Soviet armor and marshal our resources against these points: Yes, 1,073, No, 97.

(c) Organize anti-Red 5th columns in Red-dominated countries: Yes, 869, No, 272.

(d) Develop for non-Communist countries of the Far Pacific and Asia, a U. S. program of assistance in such matters as education, welfare and public works: Yes, 1,082, No, 135.

4. Do you endorse the October 7, 1952, U. S.-U. N. resolution calling for liberation of North Korea? Yes, 1,128, No, 123.

5. Should we invite all non-Communist countries of the Pacific area to join a military pact? Yes, 1,097, No, 192.

6. Should Free China representatives now be invited to sign the Japanese treaty? Yes, 989, No, 236.

7. Should the U. S. now recognize Red China? Yes, 142, No, 1,211.

Additional questions were concerned with the military situation, such as a blockade of the China coast, economic sanctions on Red China and the bombardment of Chinese airfields, railways and bridges. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of taking such actions. Lopsided approval also was expressed on the use of Chinese troops on Formosa in the Korean conflict.

The Commonwealth Club findings are a fair sample of top-flight thinking in the U. S. on major diplomatic and military problems. In the light of the conclusions reached, it seems incredible that the former administration was capable of performing in a manner patently opposed by the majority of Americans. We can only hope that the State Department now is aware of this. At any rate the Commonwealth Club findings should be required reading for all officials concerned with our activity in Asia.

Radar Screen Traps Turnpike Speed Demons

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(INS)—If you drive at more than 60 miles an hour on the New Jersey Turnpike, the radar screen will catch you.

The magic eye of radar, scanning the traffic from some unobtrusive position along this modern, super-express highway, accurately records the speed of each approaching vehicle on a constantly changing graph.

When the marker goes above the legal 60 miles an hour, a state trooper operating the radar notes the license number of the car or truck and radios the information to troopers ahead, who make the arrest.

Just to make the effectiveness of the radar even more precise, the location of these electronic speed cops varies with the traffic and is never the same.

If by chance, a speeding driver should suddenly recognize the radar unit ahead, it would already be too late for him to slow down. Such is the precision of this newest adaptation of the radar principle to catching speeders.

This, plus a large detachment of state police, is given credit for a substantial decrease in the number of accidents during the first quarter of 1953 as compared to the already low accident record in the same three-month period last year.

$10 Fee For Canoeing

Editor, Courier: Your picture today, "Bucks County's 'Land of Lakes,'" rubbed my fur the wrong way, appearing after an experience I had this afternoon.

A friend and myself planned to paddle our canoe in one of the Warner lakes shown in the picture. We were dismayed to learn that we would have to pay $10 for an afternoon's canoeing. Furthermore, I understand the police chase swimmers out of the lakes.

Lower Bucks County has a real treasure in these lakes. Could they be opened for public recreation this summer, without a ten dollar fee?

Neurotics Organize New 'Psycho' Society

By Inez Robb
(International News Columnist)
NEW YORK, July 20—(INS)—The Athens of America has just made another monumental contribution to the advancement of national welfare. The first chapter of Neurotics Anonymous has just been formed in Boston, "the home of the bean and the cod, where the schizos speak only to the psychos and the psychos are frightfully odd."

It is almost too much for the human mind to comprehend in one sitting what this can mean to the United States: just try to visualize what it would portend for peace and progress if all the neurotics could really be persuaded to get together and annoy each other instead of innocent bystanders, like you and me!

And, by the way, what do you mean "me?"

Presumably, Neurotics Anonymous will work on the same principle as Alcoholics Anonymous. In the latter organization, when a reformed character feels the overpowering urge for a tippie, he simply picks up the phone, calls up another retired lost week-end and says "Come quick. I'm on the brink of a drink."

The party of the second part then responds with the speed of a hot-rod on a Los Angeles highway, and together the two fight it out with demon rum.

So presumably when a neurotic feels he is about to slip his lid, he calls N. A. headquarters and screams "Come arunning. My lid is on the skid."

This, of course, will bring proper reinforcements to help reintegrate the old personality and bind up its split with a little scotch tape, or anyway with a little scotch.

The only amazing thing about Neurotics Anonymous is that it has been so long in coming to public fruition. It is estimated that every one in the United States is neurotic save thee, and me, and sometimes—if it's the truth you want—thee's as nutty as a pecan pie.

A good working rule of thumb, when one is trying to separate the sheep from the manic depressive goats, is to remember that a neurotic is the man or woman who has just left the room.

An individual today who doesn't boast a psychosis just doesn't boast. Certainly he is a dead-head socially and conversationally. What, pray, does a man have to talk about if he isn't being psychoanalyzed? Conversation among the psychos may be jittery but it's far from dead.

If the duodenal ulcer is the wound stripe of civilization, the psychiatrist's couch is its high sign and symbol. Not since the introduction of bingo and the pyramid clubs has another organization promised to sweep the nation like Neurotics Anonymous, although—to tell the truth—I have never yet known one who was willing to be anonymous.

If there is one thing the true neurotic loves better than another, it is to air his libido in public. And the word "anonymous" may take on surprising meanings when the new organization gets going, just like "democracy" and "peace-loving" in the mouths of the Commies.

There can be all sorts of cozy subdivisions within Neurotics Anonymous, once it gets under way. One vast subdivision alone could be devoted to lads who think they're Napoleon, or Aly Khan or Casanova (or is that redundant?).

And there should be another subdivision for the persons who, when you ask them how they are, insist on telling you. All in all, there are vast possibilities for good in this organization. Speed the day when the neurotics sit down and sub-limate together!

"ANTIQUED" METAL

You can get an "antique" effect on copper, brass or German silver easily. Mix a small amount of liver of sulphur with water. Apply the solution, either hot or cold, with a brush or a swab made by twisting a bit of cotton around a stick. First be sure the metal is clean and test the solution in a small area. Add more water or liver of sulphur as needed to get the effect you want. After the article dries you can rub highlights on the surface with 000 steel wool. Wax the article afterwards.

Auto Boys' Buyer At Houseware Show

(Special to the Courier)
ATLANTIC CITY, July 20—Mrs. Freda Plavin, of Auto Boys, Bristol, is among 4,000 buyers from every state in the Union who are today registered at the National Housewares and Home Appliance Show in Atlantic City, N. J.

More than 500 exhibitors are displaying an estimated 15,000 different household items ranging from five cents to five thousand dollars.

Show officers reported that buying activity was high reflecting a healthy inventory situation in the housewares and small appliance industry. Buyers report that items on display indicate that manufacturers are no longer plagued by shortages of materials.

Use Good Ram

A good purebred ram will do more than anything else to improve the type and conformation of the lamb crop, reminds Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist. Use of a grade ram or even a mediocre registered ram usually means that the flock will gradually go downhill instead of improving.

Prepare Your Child in Youth For A Possible Military Stint

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

WE parents will never cease to pray for the time when peace will be so certain for years and years that we won't have to look forward to seeing practically all our boys called to serve in the armed forces. Yet as we face the facts squarely in the meanwhile, the chances are that our sons now eight or ten, or even two or three, will have to give at least a few of the best years of youth to the service of their country.

Facing this reality, we parents have a motive to do our best so to rear our children that they might render the maximum service at the minimum of hardship to them and inner turmoil to us, keeping in mind their readjustment and best possible success after their return home following this service. With such in mind, I have written a new bulletin, "Your Child and National Defense" (to be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this newspaper).

Moral and Spiritual Armor

In this bulletin I point out that almost any education good for a boy or girl as a civilian should prove to have been good for him on entering the armed forces. Most of all, we parents should begin as soon as the child is born to forge for him and with him a strong moral and spiritual armor. We shall do this best as we cultivate in ourselves strong qualities of character and spiritual life, and make these qualities attractive to him by winning his genuine esteem of us while he grows up with us in the home.

We shall also begin early to cultivate in him self-reliance physically and emotionally, so he might not suffer needlessly from homesickness at separation from us and his friends and that we, too, might bear with intelligent fortitude his necessary long-time separation from us. Our own education in this direction is about as important as his.

Having done our utmost to win him to his best efforts at books up through high school, he should be favorably fitted thereby to have opportunities for further education and for promotion while in the service, and also be ready to resume schooling after returning to civilian life. Long before he is old enough to be called into service, we may build in him a wholesome attitude toward self-improvement.

Having won his affection and esteem while he has grown up with us, we incline the more to prove this affection to be permanent as we write him faithfully while he is away from us, so that he still feels he belongs to the family. He needs to receive many cheerful, homey letters from brothers and sisters, parents, grandparents and other relatives. He needs frequent, regular mail. This assurance heightens his morale, helps fit him for readjustment to civilian life by and by, for furthering his education, establishing himself vocationally, for bringing up a family of his own, and contributing to the welfare of his community.

Prepare Your Child in Youth For A Possible Military Stint

By GARY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

WE parents will never cease to pray for the time when peace will be so certain for years and years that we won't have to look forward to seeing practically all our boys called to serve in the armed forces. Yet as we face the facts squarely in the meanwhile, the chances are that our sons now eight or ten, or even two or three, will have to give at least a few of the best years of youth to the service of their country.

Facing this reality, we parents have a motive to do our best to rear our children that they might render the maximum services at the minimum of hardship to them and inner turmoil to us, keeping in mind their readiness and best possible success after their return home following this service. With such in mind, "Your Child and National Defense" (to be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this newspaper).

Moral and Spiritual Armor

In this bulletin I point out that almost any education good for a boy or girl as a civilian should prove to have been good for him on entering the armed forces. Most of all, we parents should begin as soon as the child is born to forge for him and with him a strong moral and spiritual armor. We shall do this best as we cultivate in ourselves strong qualities of character and spiritual life, and make these qualities attractive to him by winning his genuine esteem of us while he grows up with us in the home.

We shall also begin early to cultivate in him self-reliance physically and emotionally, so he might not suffer needlessly from homesickness at separation from us and his friends and that we, too, might bear with intelligent fortitude his necessary long-time separation from us. Our own education in this direction is about as important as his.

Having done our utmost to win him to his best efforts at books up through high school, he should be favorably fitted thereby to have opportunities for further education and for promotion while in the service, and also be ready to resume schooling after returning to civilian life. Long before he is old enough to be called into service, we may build in him a wholesome attitude toward self-improvement.

Having won his affection and esteem while he has grown up with us, we incline the more to prove this affection to be permanent as we write him faithfully while he is away from us, so that he still feels he belongs to the family. He needs to receive many cheerful, homey letters from brothers and sisters, parents, grandparents and other relatives. He needs frequent, regular mail. This assurance heightens his morale, helps fit him for readjustment to civilian life by and by, for furthering his education, establishing himself vocationally, for bringing up a family of his own, and contributing to the welfare of his community.

Catholics Oppose Adoption Measure Before Pa. Senate

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (INS) — Roman Catholics throughout the archdiocese of Philadelphia were urged today by Archbishop John F. O'Hara to work for the defeat of Senate Bill 1132, changing Pennsylvania's adoption procedures.

A telegram from the Archbishop read at all masses in the archdiocese Sunday asserted that the bill would "do serious harm to dependent and neglected children now cared for by the church by virtually destroying Catholic child-caring agencies."

The Archbishop said such children would "be handed over to the complete domination and control of civil authorities."

Pastors were instructed to ask their parishioners to write or wire their State Senators asking votes against the bill. A Western Union spokesman said "There were a number of such wires" sent from Philadelphia but that the tally had not been completed.

Similar letters were sent out by leaders of other Catholic Archdioceses in the state.

The bill and a companion measure in the House would expand adoption procedures at a County level and take adoption work out of the Courts and place it under a centralized State agency.

Rev. E. Paul Baird, pastor of St. Mark's Church, Radcliffe st., was among the pastors throughout the archdiocese of Philadelphia to receive a telegram from the Chancellor, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Cletus J. Benjamin, Saturday, urging that "every Catholic man and woman" send a telegram, letter or postcard to Senator Edward B. Watson at the capital, Harrisburg, Pa., voicing opposition to the bill and asking the Senator to vote against the House measure.

The pastors were urged to stress the importance of the matter, and from other sources it was learned that the bill is seen as affecting all dependent and neglected children now cared for by religious sects by destroying religious agencies and handing over such children to the control of civil authorities.

Father Baird said he spoke on the subject at all masses, Sunday, and indicated he believed pastors of all churches in the archdiocese did likewise.

Chairman of the Women's World Tournament Committee is Ray Smith, President of the Oregon AAU and Oregon State Tax Commissioner. Salt Lake City will host the Men's classic, Sept. 12-20, under the sponsorship of the Salt Lake City Recreation Department. D. J. Falls Twp. Plans Evening Athletics

Evening league play for adults of Falls Township has been planned by the supervisors of the four playgrounds which were provided by the Falls township Recreation Council.

In addition to hardball and softball, basketball, quarts, and volleyball are three of the many activities at each playground. Basketball games will be played on the Fallsington playground courts since the Levittown and Fairless Hills playgrounds do not have adequate facilities for it.

The playgrounds are open Monday through Friday from 6 to 8:30 p. m. and James F. Doherty, chairman of the council, urges all adults to participate.

'Missed Chance'

SEOUL — The Communists have lost their chance to wreck the Eighth Army line and end the Korean war on an undisputed note of victory. Military observers said today the Chinese missed their chance by not pushing south after breaking the ROK line last week. More than ten Chinese divisions took part in the big assault.

Jamboree Opens

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif.—Three days of fun—demonstrations, swimming, swapping and shows by movie stars—opened today for the nearly 50,000 Boy Scouts from 17 countries who are attending the huge Third National Jamboree. The Jamboree swung back to the lighter side after a Sabbath devoted to religious services and a talk by Vice-President Richard M. Nixon.

BONN — A key aide in the West German defense ministry was reported arrested today for delivering important security information to an unidentified Eastern power—presumably a Communist country. The official, whose name was withheld, allegedly confessed to accepting a bribe for espionage in the first example of high-level infiltration of the Bonn federal government.
